

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : The future of fly-fishing

Re: The future of fly-fishing

Author: : littlejuniata

Date: : 2010/2/14 13:43:07

URL:

Another thought on the old time "Fishermans Praradise" type operation

The average joe could experience the same type fishing that the club customer does when fishing for "well fed" (pellet fed) fish of 20 plus inches, so why would the club guy pay an excessive fee to belong to a club for the same type fishing experience.

But the main problem is not the club owner nor the clients

the main problem is the laws that permit and actually promote such clubs (at our expense) because of the tax implications

One way or another we need to compensate the landowner for access.

I met a guy on the river, nice guy, nice high end car, top quality tackle, but when discussing compensating the landowner for his use, he would not even consider it!??

His comment "I already spent enough on fly fishing"!!!

As I said he was a nice enough guy

but I am still scratching my head on his comment