

---

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : The future of fly-fishing

Re: The future of fly-fishing

Author: : troutbert

Date: : 2010/2/15 11:36:53

URL:

Quote:

afishinado wrote:

I looked for the access fund, whatever it was/is called on the PFBC website and could not find it. Has the program been eliminated, or is it buried somewhere in the site? I suggest it be displayed front and center on the site. Further, making it an option for donating each year when you buy your fishing license (similar to the check the presidential election fund on our tax forms). You should be able to donate any amount each year when you buy your license, either on-line or at an issuing agent.

I think that kind of fizzled out. It was a general access fund, so included boat ramps etc. Most people will not donate serious money unless they know how it is going to be used.

If anyone out there has significant money they would be willing to donate to conserve a trout stream and provide access, probably the best bet would be to work with a local conservancy.

For example there is a conservancy who has bought land that Valley Creek flows through. Those stream corridor lands are now protected from damaging developments and public access is assured.