Not to step on Dan's toes, but I will answer for him, "bubblegum" is too pink, the color is closer to Lavender with a subtle "pinkness" to it. I've seen real worms in the garden that were this color, it's almost the color of the center of a rare steak, that's the closest color I can compare it to. He gave me some last year and it really WAS the best color! I wish he could find them again, because I want about 1000 of them.
