I fish mine with a sinktip or full sink line with a short leader. I just have to have some other looped sink tips in other lengths to adjust weight for different water depths and retrieve speeds. That's if I use a sink tip line. A full sink line no adjustments just 3ft. lead and fish. I rather have light fly and a heavy line in a sink or tip style versus a heavy fly and light floating line. For me it's easier to punch the big fly through the air with that set up.
