salmonid,

Restaurants and bars were made by businessmen. The great outdoors wasn't. Has nothing to do with wild fish. I get a little frustrated with posted land, but most of the time I understand and sympathize with the landowner. But if they're doing it for money, that gets to me. They didn't make the stream.

If a private landowner has some expenses, say for a parking area to keep people out of his driveway, or to fix the ruts left by fishermen, and asked for a voluntary donation, I would. But I'd never pay someone who's in it for profit.
