

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : leader to fly line connection

Re: leader to fly line connection

Author: : OlyphantLucky

Date: : 2007/7/21 9:52:35

URL:

The most common alternative is the "braided leader loop" which is slid over the end of the fly line, and locked in place by then sliding a tubular plastic section over top. In some types, this is made from heat-shrink plastic, and holding it over a mild heat source will shrink-fit it tightly in place.