

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Winston TMF ?'s

Re: Winston TMF ?'s

Author: : tennjed

Date: : 2010/2/23 12:23:22

URL:

The TMF is best used as a dry fly rod (a sweet stick). If your looking for more versatility in that length and wt. I would look at BIIT or BIIX. Don't be put off by the BIIX as being labeled fast. It isn't like most "broomstick" fast actions out there. I fish my BIIT (8' 4wt) quite often as my go to small/med stream dry fly rod. However, if I need to fish a small nymph rig, it can handle it. Just my 2 cents.