wait i just quoted that from ur reply above. either way i know we dont agree on this subject and probably never will. thats ok though 🙄 the day IS coming when the hatchery system will fail and we will have to regulate our wild trout resource better. there will be less fisherman fishing for trout. it may not be in my lifetime, but my kids are going to have a blast 🙄

p.s. im sure there wont be anymore agruements on this board about this subject 🙄 ya right. at least not from me to you. i give up advocating for our most precious trout resource here. it seems there isnt enough people willing to swallow there pride or there fishing experince that they are accustomed to. i just hope that some fisheries arent lost before we really start to consider better management. 🙄
