I fished with dry flies for while, then, in cold water or deep holes, tried to cast weighted nymphs... argghhhhh!
Very bad-cowboy-at-the-rodeo scene -- lasso-ing trees, myself, look out -- I don't understand casting weighted flies. I assume I shouldn't start with a 6 foot, full flex rod, but beyond that, how do you cast that weighted thing out there when it has momentum and, seemingly, a mind of its own?
