

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : how do you cast weighted flies?

Re: how do you cast weighted flies?

Author: : ryguyfi

Date: : 2010/3/5 12:23:55

URL:

Try using a water haul. At the end of your drift, let your flies swing all the way to the surface by using the current of the stream and then make one big flip to put them back upstream. This reduces the chances of getting hang ups by false casting (same thing for a roll cast), and gets the flies back in the water quicker.

And for the 15th time on this thread you should look into getting a longer rod. That will help with your dry presentation and accuracy also. I'd only use a 6 foot in heavy cover for wilds.

If you're on a tight budget like myself, check out <http://www.albrightflyfish.com/>

Keep asking questions, we'll be more than happy to help you out.