One day I went out and caught 2 trout in two casts.

I hereby retire from fly fishing with an estimated 100% success rate.

I'm all for waking people up about global warming, provided it turns out to be an actual issue 😊, but puh-lease do us all a favor and do it in a reasonable and less refutable manner.

Comparing a 7 year sample to a 30 year mean is crap. I'd be willing to bet a beer that they could have easily gone back to a MUCH earlier date, perhaps as early as 1900... too bad that would have shown the sinusoidal nature of weather patterns which they appear to be attempting to exploit.

EDIT:

Thanks for doing the legwork, Albatross.
