Jack,

You have a good point there. Does Earth's temp change? Well, yes, we know that there were several ice ages.

That's a fact. Are we contributing to this latest so called warm-up? Probaly. Should we do something about it?

All we got to lose is everything. IMO if we can't keep our backyard clean, then we shouldn't expect our nieghbors too! We're all in this together, if one person sets an example, others will follow, good or bad.

The crazy thing about the greenhouse effect/global warming is, an volcano can blow its top and change everything pretty much overnight.
