

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Fly selection...

Re: Fly selection...

Author: : sanctuary

Date: : 2010/3/10 19:35:12

URL:

I may have confused them with my Indiana Jones presentation...

or maybe it was my moose-like wading skills. haha

I tried dead drifting a weighted GW across the bottom, then an unweighted. Worked the WB on the drift and stripped in a bunch of different ways like a streamer.

I am trying to get back into "trout" mode. 3 years on the Potomac catching 40-50lb stripers and catfish in 50 ft of water can numb you to the amount of noise you can make. Next time you see me, I'll be low crawling in full camo.

And Jay, thanks for the suggestion. The kids have been chomping at the bit to get out, so I'll probably take them and sling a little metal with em.