

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Droppers

Droppers

Author: : NotLong4PA

Date: : 2010/3/12 12:46:38

URL:

Since my skills have been improving, not much but improving none the less, i've started to try fishing multiple flies. I've read of many different ways to tie the droppers (inline clinch, dropper loops, etc.) I've been fishing a dry dropper where you tie in a small piece of tippet then take another piece of tippet and double surgeon the two together, trim the odd tag, use the tag you left for your dry, and use the bottom length for the nymph. Just wondering what everyone else uses for multiple fly applications.