

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Little black stonefly

Little black stonefly

Author: : sanctuary

Date: : 2010/3/12 20:19:20

URL:

I saw in another post some pictures of the little black stonefly.

I saw hundreds of them on the Swatara the other day. I was really just exploring and practicing casting, not fishing real hard.

The Swatara isn't directly stocked, but I have seen trout in there. Probably from other creeks that empty in further upstream.

With a bug population and healthy water, will the Swattie have a holdover population?

Living a hundred yards away, I'll do some research this year.