I have Cherokee Sport and I'd say you are going to fall a wee short of of 25mpg. Probably somewhere between 20 and 25.

I was thinking that a little hatchback station wagon would do all the things you need and get decent mileage. My thinking is, that if you are driving a couple hours, it's better to have a vehicle that can take care of the 90 miles up to the last 3. You can hike that last 3 miles. If you can't afford the 90 you won't have the opportunity.
