

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : More Muskie Stuff

Re: More Muskie Stuff

Author: : David

Date: : 2010/3/15 16:03:03

URL:

Quote:

Fishidiot wrote:

Great report David. Were you fly fishing and if so what sort of fly did yuh nail him on? Did he bite you off or just shake the hook?

They're definitely out there and usually active in cold water. The pike are in really shallow these days too - often right up against the bankside cover at ice out.

I was fly fishing. I was expecting to see some pike, but the only ones I made I contact with were the big dogs. Perhaps the pike were the ones that flushed early.

I got him on this fly tied on a stainless 2/0. I started with the same fly in a white / red combo, but they weren't looking at it. I switched to the black on my back.

I had wire on, so he didn't bite through. He just shook it, or more likely it just pulled loose. Probably a good thing, cause I forgot my long needle nose pliers anyway!

Attach file:

---

 P3150217.JPG (221.20 KB)

