beaver chose not to appeal Judeg Kurtz's ruling. Pretty much, as long as you keep your feet wet, you can fish the LJR past the Espy property.

beaver has continued to be busy, buying and leasing other properties in the state. He has gotten ahold of quite a few properties that were formerly open to public access but that now are closed for the use of his clients and minions. I think it is sad that such a character has intruded on fly-fishing and trout fishing in general to the detriment of many who love the sport. His stocking of pellet-fed fish in waters that are declared wild trout waters is especially damning. Below is, perhaps, the proper end for one of his fish in a wild trout stream, though I guess it's not the rainbow's fault it is a pellet-fed, man-made fish.
