

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Winter fishing

Re: Winter fishing

Author: : jayL

Date: : 2007/7/27 0:17:10

URL:

I have also had some good days in the fringe winter months with egg patterns. Late, late fall/early winter, and late winter/early spring. Clearly due to instinctive knowledge of spawning habits IMO. So yeah, give an egg a try like Albatross suggested.

<brag>

As I said earlier about midges though... Right around 2 pm, when the sun is on the water and warming it up a bit. 25 trout on a zebra midge in 1.5 hours one day. The best fishing day of my life was in freaking January. It was unreal.

</brag>