

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Winter fishing

Re: Winter fishing

Author: : SlumpBuster

Date: : 2007/7/27 7:43:06

URL:

I fish a lot during the winter because it is during the school year and I have a lot of time. I use a lot of buggers and streamers. You'd be suprised how active fish can be when you throw a large streamer in a hole even when there is ice on the banks. I watched my friend who dosen't fly fish catch a huge brown one january when it was about 10 degrees out on a rapala. The fish charged it from a long way. From my experince I trout will move long distances even in the winter if the meal is big enough.