I haven't tried it out (should've made you let me take it for a spin at the minijam, HA), but I've seen HA's tenkara rod and its a pretty fascinating thing.. It more or less tapers down to something that's barely bigger the furred leader it touches, its amazingly light.

I'd love to give it a whirl, although I'm not sure I have a need yet. I can easily see this being something I'd embrace, though.
