The upper and lower limits indicated as the Approved Trout Water (ATW) are used by the PF&BC to identify the boundaries where they may stock fish and whereby fishing is prohibited from March 1 through Opening Day. Fishing is also prohibited in the downstream areas of ATWs during the closed season.

However, access may be fragmented within these limits and as well stocking may only occur in sections within the limits.

Look for B&W "Fishing Permitted" or other PF&BC Signs to give you the general vicinity of where the stockings occur.

Hope this helps
