RAFan,

You are correct that the upper and lower limits refer to the "upper" (meaning upstream) and lower (downstream) limit between which trout are stocked. These areas are closed to any fishing from March 1st until opening day of trout season. This is referred to as the "closed season." To make things more confusing, some stocked streams do not have a published upper or lower limit. If this is the case, I would avoid that entire stream during the closed season.
