Pad,

Thats why they put you in IT....you don't have the marketing stuff.

Nowadays I'd venture to guess there are no "new" flies just variations of old ones.

Reminds me of something I heard on Morning radio today. Back in the 80's when professional sports autographing became so popular and sports stars were selling their signature for $5.00 a pop. Humble Cal Ripkin Jr was appauled. He would stay after games for hours signing anything put in front of him to "devalue" his name in the autograph market.
