Pad,

That's why they put you in IT....you don't have the marketing stuff.

Nowadays I'd venture to guess there are no "new" flies just variations of old ones.

Reminds me of something I heard on Morning radio today. Back in the 80's when professional sports autographing became so popular and sports stars were selling their signature for $5.00 a pop. Humble Cal Ripkin Jr was appalled. He would stay after games for hours signing anything put in front of him to "devalue" his name in the autograph market.
