

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Casting accuracy and distance - am I doing OK for a newbie?

Casting accuracy and distance - am I doing OK for a newbie?

Author: : hockeyref

Date: : 2010/4/5 22:27:41

URL:

I'm in Greensburg, and will end up hitting the local spots in SW PA... Ligioneer, Yough, Dunbar, etc....What need form you folks is some feedback, advice , etc. if I'm doing ok, need to get more accurate, need to get more distance while maintaining this level of accuracy.

Went out into the field yesterday too practice a bit with a yarn ball. Since the grass was still mostly dormant there were little tufts that stuck up about 3 inches and made perfect targets. I was able to land my yarn ball withing about 6 inches of the chosen "target" about 65% of the time out to about 45 feet. Most of the remaining 35% landed within a foot. I figure that I'm not doing too bad since I started casting a fly rod less than a year ago.