

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Answer to the age old "What flies?"

Re: Answer to the age old "What flies?"

Author: : JackM

Date: : 2010/4/9 9:53:02

URL:

I understood the cringing part to be a mild disgust with a fly angler who would ask only that question. I would want to know about flows, active or anticipated hatches, and conditions regarding expected angler usage on the day of my trip. What fly to use would follow from that. If I told you I slayed them yesterday on a lime-green emerging sparkle pupa and that's all you took to the stream, I'd think you are foolish. Likewise, if you didn't take any of them, I'd think you were unschooled.