

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : newbie question

newbie question

Author: : Hammerhead81

Date: : 2010/4/11 20:40:25

URL:

I just started fly fishing a month ago and have been out twice. First time I was skunked and I went today and caught a really nice 16 inch rainbow on a Woolly Bugger (Thank you to the two guys who tipped me off, I don't know your names). I was so damn excited. But being as new as I am, I have a ton of questions...

Is to nymph or dry fly a seasonal decision or is it day to day?

I was reading alot about nymphing when I came home tonight cause I caught the rainbow on the bottom when the wooly bugger sank and was curious if I should continue with this technique for a while or if it is a day to day thing.