Im happy to see there are more people who like to carp fish. I personally think they are as great a challenge to land using a fly rod and fly than a three year old native Bow with lock jaw. I usually start about now and I caught a juvenile yesterday using a simple streamer, crawling across a pond bottom. Stream/river fishing for them will make you a better fisherman and when bass turn off in the summer,we target carp . I think when you hook into a twenty pound freight train you'll understand. Good carpin and you'll need backer,backer,backer!!!!!!!!!!
