Being that Lycoming is stocked the fish aren't spread out. You can find the occasional fish that's moved or heldover, but right now most of the fish are in bath-tub sized areas, stacked on top of each other.

If you don't mind me asking, what section were you at; I may be able to provide some insight.

BTW, the DHALO section will have fish. A little harder to cast there, but atleast there's fish.

A good rule of thumb with Lycoming is if you see one of those white signs, that's where they put fish in at. A few cars at a pull-off is a good sign too.

That's what I was afraid of. When I was still spin fishing, I would hit specific holes primarily up along Rt.14.

I was fishing a section along McKee road off of Lycoming Creek road. The creek actually splits in the area I was at, and goes around a small island. There were certainly a few pockets of deeper water, but not many.
