I have fished there and even Hoagland Run (which is stocked)

This is near the bottom of where they stock, and I have always done well from the DH to Gray's Run.

I have also caught many fish along Heshbon, especially by the northern most bridge. The reeds haven grown up yet (I'm guessing) so there will be plenty of room to back cast. These fish are definately holdovers and have migrated down stream; my guess is even the river over the winter and are starting to move back up. In these deep holes there are some large bass too.

One of my favorite spots, is to park at Pwey's Bar and just fish and walk up stream.
