Gfen,

For what it's worth a proper sporting canoe is very stable.

I own an Old Town Osprey. A foam core canoe,, it's 14 feet long and weighs 55 lbs. It's light enough to transport and load alone.Stable enough that I often stand while castng the fly.

I use both gas and an electric motor that mount on a removable transom.

The Osprey is not inexpensive but well worth the cost. HTH Dave
