I talked with a friend last night whose son is on the Pa team. The Pa team is doing ok. I believe they blanked a few sections, but did fairly well on some others. Honestly, after fishing with a couple of the kids on the team, I think they are doing great with such a short amount of time to really prepare for this. They are all having a blast from what I hear.

My friend said that the English did very well, putting some good numbers on the board.

Anyone else go or have updates?
