

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Green drake comments requested.

Re: Green drake comments requested.

Author: : MKern

Date: : 2010/5/2 21:27:00

URL:

Jay,

Yup, closed cell foam, sheet form. Cut a strip, fold in half, poke a hole in the center of the fold and two notches at the sides, insert tail material, fold back over and wrap 1st segment. The trick, or hard part, is to hide the thread between the segments.

This is all done in hand and when you decide to attach to the hook, poke the point through.

This style makes good damsels and dragons too.