

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Youth Fly Fishing World Championships

Re: Youth Fly Fishing World Championships

Author: : troutbert

Date: : 2007/8/7 22:39:54

URL:

I watched a little bit on Spring Creek the other evening, and watching someone else fish isn't as interesting as fishing yourself! Cast, drift. Cast, drift.

They are superb casters, that was obvious pretty quickly. The guys I watched were doing a lot of fishing, but not much catching. Until right near the 8 pm quit time. Then they started catching them.

I couldn't tell what people were using, even with binocs. Those of you involved, have you seen anyone using Sinking Green Inchworms? If not they are missing out. It's the best summer pattern on these streams.