agreed , the smalles size thingamabobbers , only problem i have is , u pinch the leader to make a small loop , thread it through the eye of the indie and put the loop over the whole indie then pull it tight so the loop is arround the leader and not the plastic part where the eyes is , alot of times the problem is ,the leader becomes twisted and its hard to get it back off , sometime i cut it off and tripl surgeon it back together , any help rigging these any better , other than a toothpick
