

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Humpinator recipe

Re: Humpinator recipe

Author: : outfisher

Date: : 2007/8/11 14:41:28

URL:

If you go to flyanglersonline and search for an article about the humpinator, you will find an essay by a guy named Dave Pearson. In his essay, he clearly states that the fly he came up with is purely a guess of what he thinks the humpinator might be. The picture of the fly looks to me to just be basically a stimulator. I have caught a lot of fish on stimulators and fished them quite a bit. It was a "go to" fly for me. That is, until I fished the humpinator. I haven't thrown a stimulator since. Keep searching for a weak link. I know of one possibility, but doubt it is a real weak link. 🤔