They may be union but it's more likely that they are simply responding to the food supply. Some species of insect hatch early, some hatch late and others hatch all day.

Go to a stream and fish a cahill between 10 am and 2 pm.... you may not even get a fish to look at it. Then, go back to that same stream and fish from 7 pm til dark. I'll bet you see a different reaction to your offering. All of that is based on the water your fishing actually has a cahill hatch. Remember, not every stream has every bug out there.
