If you like fishing dries and don't have any idea in advance when you'd get out, carry ants, crickets and beetles with you. Fish are always suckers for a land dweller that falls into their stream.

You can pick up a book like... the book from Meck on PA (was looking for the title but the person that borrowed it never gave it back) OR Pennsylvania trout & salmon fishing guide * Mike Sajna OR Trout Streams of Pennsylvania * by a member of the forum (Mr Landis). These will give you some access points and an idea of what insects you may encounter.

You may want to check out Valley Crk, French Crk, Ridley Crk or the Tully.

here's a link for Perk info:
