Jack I wish I had a place for us to go . The only other place I know were to camp on pens is Poe Paddy and I have no problem with having a dry Jambo . I will start researching but I have only been fly fishing for 3 years now so I am trying to use the resorces of the people on this website to solve our problem .

But maybe just maybe if somebody would take one for the board and give a campground owner a formal appology he will let us have it their again next year .Or we can just find somewhere else instead .

.....Just Saying.....
