I printed out an Early Black Stone Fly pattern probably a year ago or maybe more from the old board that was submitted by Chaz. Never got to tie it, but was thinking about it this fall. It is a very thin fly with a sparse deer hair wing...size 18 dry. There is also a pattern in the fly tying, fly swap 2004 thread on this site...Tied by Brad Birely. I have a question related to this, if you would indulge me. In the Lehigh Valley and surrounding area, when should we start to see these flies or fish them?

Thanks in advance for any advice.
