I caught this uniquely colored brown (?) today on a black ghost streamer. I catch quite a few browns in this stream that also have the tiger stripe/ worm markings. Just looking for some clarification as it's definitely not your typical brown.

I wrote to the PFBC and asked them about this trout. Got the reply back today. They said it is a tiger trout. So that should make it official.
Here is the reply.

Yes, you are correct. It is a tiger trout.

Hhmm...

This is quite surprising. With due respect to Ms Reilly, I think she's mistaken. If and until Mike chimes in and supports the claim that it's a tiger.... I'm sticking with brown trout.
