

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : silk fly line

Re: silk fly line

Author: : tomitrout

Date: : 2010/6/9 14:24:44

URL:

yeah sight-nymph....and I bet that old fella would probably have the same thing to say about that lifeless high modulus super graphite rod your bud was using. 😊

I got turned on to silk lines this year and love 'em, wouldn't fish with anything else given the choice...and yeah I also fish bamboo pretty much exclusively. If you're really interested, visit Jim & Jonas at the Feathered Hook in Coburn, they'll probably loan you a silk to try out on the water. I was hooked after just a short session of lawn casting outside the shop...

more info? here's a blurb about the 're-discovery' of silk fly lines: <http://www.overmywaders.com/index.php?silk> oh, and watch out for those Zhus lines, general opinion is that they're pretty much junk from the research I did...you get what you pay for.