Funny stuff! There's not a gang of guys out there that cherish their rods and their way of fishing more than the boo guys, it's almost a religion!

Stay out of the church if you're not going to pray with them and pay homage to the God of Boo, or YOU may end up nailed to their cross...lol

I'm a graphite guy, but I really admire the rods and think some boo rods are works of art. And they're not just for the wall; a true boo guy can fish as well as anyone with the right rod.

Each to his own on their way of fishing and the equipment they prefer.
