

---

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : silk fly line

Re: silk fly line

Author: : sight_nymph_17109

Date: : 2010/6/10 12:11:46

URL:

Without Al Gore inventing the internet, we'd never be able to have this pointless banter. "Thanks Al" Bring your bamboo to NY in September. Maybe you can change my mind.

afishinado,

I hear ya. No need to worry about me ever strolling into a service at the church of boo. Not my cup of tea either. They may nail me to a cross but I hope they don't do it with their $3000 Sweetgrass rods. For some reason, purist is the word that comes to mind. I just go out there and fish. I do it because I enjoy the challenge and the beautiful surroundings. I get the impression that the 'boo crew' may have something to do with the snobby / elite stereotype that fly fisherman are labeled with. That's a shame and I don't fit the stereotype. I'll fish with newbies or a 50 yr vet of the sport. I don't care if you spent $30 or $4000 or your rig... let's fish. That's a reading from the book of a guy that loves fly fishing...amen.