bikerfish.....how ya doin? Just got back here , been gone since the jam and boy are my wings tired. Silk fly line? really? i remember my pap using silk line and gut leaders , i still have and use his leader wallet , has a "wet" side for soaking the catgut leaders in moist cloth , i like old stuff , i'll bet if i dig through his old gear i can find some silk lines , we are close enough we can get together and try one out sometime , the chat you me and shakey had at the campground leads me to beleive you both are folks i could learn something from. The point that you make that it's the fisherman that catches the fish is right on. Just cause i have a cane rod doesn't make me "tweedy" does it?
