j's report says it all. I was fishing caddis and didn't even look to see what was on the water. I hooked 9 fish in the first 15 minutes so I had the right fly as far as I knew. I continued my 5-8 fish hooked and lost average before I actually got one to net. jdaddy witnessed it so it's not my imagination. I'm having serious issues with keeping fish hooked. Anywho, after the rising slowed down, we changed to a nymph rig with indi. We were hooked up every 3rd or 4th cast and landed another 7 fish or so. Left close to noon. Water was around 68-69 and didn't want to stress fish. Hooked one that fought for 15 seconds before coming unhooked. He the floated, belly up, to the top. By the time I got to him, he righted himself and swam away. Bordering on too warm to C&R. Best I've seen the fishing on there in a while. NO suckers either Corey!!
