Called the eyes on drilling hotline yesterday. They told me those guys do have a permit. As for the threats about the camera, basically its a he said she said kind of thing. I was also told many of these guys are on edge from all the media pressure especially after hbo ran the gasland documentary. He said that there wasno excuse for that. They looked top see if there were any other complaints with this crew and all that was listed were some noise complaints about the vacume trucks and increased truck traffic in town. He encouraged me and others to keep an eye on any of the drill crews we encounter and said that they could never have enough people to help watch them.
