

Subject: : Warm Water & Salt Water Fly-Fishing

Topic: : Schuylkill River Smallmouth

Re: Schuylkill River Smallmouth

Author: : sholgate

Date: : 2010/7/12 18:05:43

URL:

Concentrate in the head of pools with good amount of turbulence before the pool (yes, like trout). Stay in the shade if you can, or early morning. The Skook is not dead. Just stated to fish for SM this summer and have been averaging 5-6 an hour on several sections near Reading. Most around 6-10" a few over 12.

I work streamers including Clousers downstream at a 40 degree angle or so. So I am giving both a swing and a "jigging" upstream.

I hope this helps.