

---

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Midges? Help me identify

Midges? Help me identify

Author: : bjkaledas

Date: : 2006/11/28 9:40:16

URL:

I was out at Spring Creek by Fisherman's Paradise on Saturday and there was a significant BWO hatch and there was something else in the air that I am not familiar with. There were quite a few of them and knowing that midges hatch all year round and would probably be the only other bug out there, I am assuming that they were midges. I was able to get a quick look and they seemed to be grey and sort of shaped like a barbell. The front was a round ball and the butt end was a ball shape. Anybody have pictures or midge information in general?

BJ